

Gynaecology Cancer Nurse Specialist Team

We are here to provide support and information for patients and families of those who have been diagnosed with a Gynaecological cancer.

Your Consultant has explained that you have cancer - we know that it can take time to come to terms with this diagnosis.

It is very important that you are able to ask questions and obtain information during these early stages.

We can provide support, advice and information about your particular cancer.

The aim of this service is to help you and those close to you to understand what is happening and to offer support during the course of your treatment. We also act as a link between you and the hospital and often see you in follow-up clinics.

Please do not hesitate to contact us to discuss any concerns or queries you may have at any time during the different stages of your treatment.

If we are unable to help with a particular problem, we will be able to refer you to the appropriate person. We have direct contact with your Consultant and a team of Cancer Specialists and are able to get a quick response to specific problems.

We have a direct dial number, please leave a message and a contact number if we are not available - we check our messages regularly and we will get back to you.
