

Following your Child's Supervised Feed

Patient name:
NHS no:
Hospital no: Please affix patient ID label within this box
DOB:

Food to be used:

Your child has successfully completed their supervised feed

This has either been:

- Positive – had symptoms to the food and must avoid the foods now.
- Negative – No reaction to the food. The food must be re-introduced.

Once home your child should avoid strenuous play and activities for the rest of the day as this could bring on a delayed reaction.

Exercise can make an allergic reaction worse, so encourage quiet play and activities such as watching TV or reading.

Some children unfortunately may have a delayed reaction which can occur 6 to 48 hours after the supervised feed. The signs of an allergic reaction may be:

- Nausea and vomiting
- Diarrhoea

- Tummy ache
- Worsening of their eczema
- Runny nose and eyes
- Swelling of face, eyes, hands and feet
- Pale and floppy
- Generalised blotchy rash
- Hives anywhere on the body
- Wheezing and coughing
- Itching and swelling in the mouth
- Tight throat
- Difficulty in breathing or swallowing
- Weakness or floppiness

If a reaction occurs:

- Follow your child's treatment plan.
- See your GP if it is an increase in eczema or a mild reaction.
- Attend your local A&E department if the reaction is severe or includes difficulty in breathing.

Following a NEGATIVE supervised feed, i.e. NO reaction to the food

The food should initially be avoided for 48 hours to observe for delayed reactions.

After 48 hours

A portion of the food should be given 2-3 times a week regularly in the normal diet. Keep it in the diet with no gaps of 2 weeks or more.

If you having difficulty introducing it in to your child's diet and would like some ideas or advice, please contact one of our paediatric dieticians on 01392 406063 who may be able to send some information sheets.
